Human Rights Promotion and Human Resources Development

Respect human rights, provide safe and healthy workplaces for employees, secure and train personnel, and diversify while striving to protect employment.

Basic Approach

Committed to Human Rights

At Toray Group, respect for human rights is a mandatory management principle for ensuring the continuity of corporate activities and building positive relationships with all of the Group's stakeholders. The Group works to promote and raise awareness of human rights, for instance by declaring its commitment to the respect of human rights in its Corporate Guiding Principles and Ethics & Compliance Code of Conduct. In the Code, discrimination of any kind based on race, creed, skin color, gender, religion, nationality, language, physical characteristics, disability, socioeconomic status, place of birth, or any other personal characteristic is strictly forbidden in every process from recruiting and hiring to work placement, compensation, training, and retirement.

Moreover, Toray Group has selected "respecting human rights and promoting human resource diversity" as a material CSR issue. The Group respects internationally recognized human rights and works to create workplaces where diverse human resources can demonstrate their creativity and thrive.

The Ethics & Compliance Code of Conduct stipulates that harassment must never be tolerated in the workplace, including sexual, and power harassment. In addition, Toray Industries has established Guidelines for Preventing Harassment in the workplace and informs officers and employees of the policy and prevention management system that does not allow sexual harassment, pregnancy-based harassment, and power harassment.

Toray Group has been tackling the issue of discrimination based on self-acknowledged gender and sexual orientation. In January 2017, the Group established an employee hotline specifically for LGBTQ issues, which is operated by the Human Rights Promotion Section of the Industrial Relations Department of Toray Industries.

The Group also addresses global human rights issues in accordance with the Toray Group Policy for Human Rights, considering the diverse cultures, customs and social norms of the countries and regions where it operates.

Identifying, Assessing and Mitigating Human Rights Risks for Toray Group

CSR Roadmap 2022
Main Initiatives (1)(3)

Toray Group carries out an annual survey of all of Toray Industries’ offices and plants as well as its main group companies in and outside Japan, asking about their human rights promotion activities, including awareness and education efforts. The results are confirmed at the Human Rights Promotion Committee in Japan and the Global Human Rights Promotion Committee. Using this process, issues, problems and concerns are identified as human rights risks, and initiatives are considered and implemented in line via the human rights promotion system. Toray Group has set up a system that enables everyone working for the Group to report and consult on human rights issues. In Japan, the Corporate Ethics and Legal Compliance Helpline has been set up, and each group company outside Japan also has established a Helpline contact point. All these services can be used anonymously, and there is also an externally operated helpline available. Toray Group strives to mitigate human rights risks and to respond promptly and appropriately if and when any issues arise. Information concerning the use of the Helpline contact points in Japan, such as the number of contacts and their content, is reported to the semiannual Ethics and Compliance Committee meetings chaired by the president of Toray Industries, Inc.

In order to also promote respect for human rights in the supply chain, compliance-related communications can always be submitted through the Toray website. The system for ensuring human rights are protected in the supply chain is described under “Establishing Sustainable Supply Chain.”

Main Initiatives (3)

Detailed reports were also submitted to the Human Rights Promotion Committee in Japan, and the Global Human Rights Promotion Committee.

In addition, through its human rights education in Japan, Toray Group introduced examples of issues reported to employees in a way that makes it impossible to identify the workplace or individuals to promote understanding and alerting to workplace harassment and other issues.

Toray School of Technology and Business Administration Develops Leaders to Improve Frontline Capabilities Across the Toray Group

Toray Industries is dedicated to improving the capabilities of frontline employees across Toray Group. It opened the Toray School of Technology and Business Administration in September 1994 as a training facility for young group employees in Japan. The aim is to develop human resources who can think and act without being micromanaged. As of the 28th session in 2022, the school has produced 815 graduates.

Classes include general subjects such as mathematics and English, along with specialized subjects including polymer chemistry, engineering basics, and robotics, as well as more practical group problem-solving exercises and chemical experiments. By having employees participate in hands-on learning experiences, they get a deeper understanding of the theory taught in class. During the one-year period of enrollment, each student aims to develop the skills to become a frontline leader who can think and act without being micromanaged, by utilizing every opportunity for their own professional development.

In October 2022, the Toray School of Technology and Business Administration opened a new Frontline Skills Enhancement School to develop unit manager candidates. Students learn soft skills such as leadership, team building, followership, and motivation by solving problems in their own departments. The curriculum features a new method that involves having students form teams and share a vision, before carrying out activities. They are taught to consider even activities that do not bring the desired results to have achieved something positive and to see this as a valuable process. Toray Group is developing frontline leaders who have acquired the basic skills needed by working members of society in order to succeed in a changing world.

Systematically Securing, Developing, and Promoting Core Staff Outside Japan at Group Companies

CSR Roadmap 2022
Main Initiatives (5)

Toray Group regards the development of core staff at its group companies outside Japan as one of its priority management objectives. The Group makes active efforts to promote employees locally hired at these companies (national staff) to executive management positions, as well as to key posts and management positions at Toray Industries' head office. In fiscal 2022, a total of eight core staff outside Japan help manage Toray Group, with two serving as vice presidents of Toray Industries and six serving as director (riji), a position that is equivalent in scope and level of responsibility to senior management.

In terms of human resource development and promotions, Toray Group has been working on a succession plan and personnel development plan based on a medium- and long-term perspective and drawing up its Medium-Term Human Resources Plan with the goal of implementing systematic personnel assignments to ensure that core staff can tackle important business issues. The Group implements human resources strategies designed to support business strategies by verifying the availability of successor candidates for core positions and developing individualized development plans for future management candidates, including for core staff outside Japan. In addition, the Group is systematically fostering human resources by offering career development opportunities such as domestic and international job rotations.

Human resource development is systematically implemented using both on-the-job and off-the-job training. Off-the-job training consists of training implemented by each group company outside Japan. This is combined with grade-specific training programs held in Japan to ensure understanding of management principles and policies. These are linked with personalized long-term development plans. Toray Group, with direct involvement from the head office, is developing and regularly providing management training courses outside Japan specially designed for the particular circumstances and needs of group companies in each respective country.

Since its inception in 1996, more than 300 employees hired outside Japan have taken the course.

In 2023, in-person training was held at the Toray Human Resources Development Center in Japan, the first such event since the COVID-19 travel restrictions were lifted, and thorough infection control measures were taken. The participants included 18 employees from 14 group companies located in 9 countries, namely, the United States, Mexico, the United Kingdom, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Czech Republic, Hungary, and Malaysia.

During the seminar, the participants deepened their understanding of Toray and Toray-style management (the Toray Philosophy and management strategies, as well as compliance and quality assurance activities, etc.). In sessions provided by external lecturers, the participants learned about developing their own management style, how to approach specific regional cultures, and how to recognize their own cultural biases. In addition to learning how to demonstrate effective leadership in various situations, as well as deepening their understanding of Toray's corporate culture, each participant created an action plan to strengthen their own group company in a way that is consistent with Toray's corporate culture. As the 2022 seminar was conducted in person, it also provided an opportunity for dynamic interaction between the participants and became a meaningful way for them to enhance their personal networks.

Toray Group U.S. Management Training [Toray Industries (America), Inc.]

With the cooperation of Toray Composite Materials America (CMA), Toray Industries America (TAM) held the 14th US Management Training at CMA's Tacoma Plant from January 31 to February 2, 2023. The participants included 17 employees from six Toray Group companies in the United States, namely, Toray Resin (TREC), Toray Plastics (America) (TPA), CMA, Zoltek Companies (ZOLTEK), Toray Advanced Composites USA (TACUS), and Performance Materials (PMC).

The seminar was a three-day training course for section managers and unit chiefs. The first aim was for participants to gain an understanding of Toray-style management (safety management, corporate ethics and legal compliance, cost management, and personnel and labor management), while the second aim was for them to improve their human resources and organizational management skills. In addition to lectures, there were group discussions and presentations by internal instructors from various fields, along with a leadership lecture and a tour of the Tacoma factory. It was also a great opportunity for participants to enhance their personal networks.

Promoting Diversity

Toray Group is committed to promoting employee diversity to help build thriving workplaces where each individual's abilities can flourish.

Fostering an Organizational Culture Conducive to the Career Advancement of Women

CSR Roadmap 2022
Main Initiatives (6)

Toray Industries, Inc. has long encouraged women in the workplace and implemented policies to support women to build fulfilling careers. The Company promoted its first female manager in 1958 and introduced employee provisions for taking parenting leave nearly 20 years before parenting leave became mandatory in Japan. In 2003, a woman became president of a Toray Group company. Then, in 2004, the Company launched the Advancement of Women Project. As of April 2023, women held 10.0% of unit manager or higher positions and 6.1% of section manager or higher positions. In June 2015, the Company welcomed its first female director (riji), a position that is equivalent in scope and level of responsibility to senior management. (One female director [riji] as of March 2023.)

In March 2021, Toray Industries formulated and publicly released its five-year action plan (April 2021–March 2026) for increasing the retention rate of women employees and the ratio of women employees in management positions by promoting initiatives for individual skill development and career building.

The action plan sets out the following goals and initiatives.

Goals:

1. Increase the percentage of management positions held by women each year, with a specific initial target of raising this percentage from the 5.1% in fiscal 2020 to 6.5%
2. Achieve a 1:1 ratio of men and women employees continuously employed for each employment management category (among those who have been employed for ten years or less)

Initiatives:

- (1) Use career path worksheets to enhance opportunities for discussion with supervisors and subordinates regarding careers and other topics and share content with directors in charge of each business and Personnel Department to follow up on status of implementation.
- (2) Narrow the gap between the percentage of women selected for company-wide leadership training and the percentage of women in the target group for this training.
- (3) Provide continuous training and other means of raising awareness of career development among women employees.
- (4) Enhance systems to enable diverse work styles and create an even better environment for balancing work and life events.
- (5) Conduct morale survey (measuring effectiveness of initiatives) to ascertain status of above initiatives, analyze results, and identify measures for improvement.

Number of Women in Management Positions and Women as a Percentage of Total Management (Toray Industries, Inc.)

Note: As of April each year

Gender Pay Gap

Toray Industries calculates the difference in earnings between men and women according to the provisions of Japan's Act on Promotion of Women's Participation and Advancement in the Workplace (Act No. 64, 2015). For regular employees, there is not a major gap in the earnings of women compared to men in managerial and non-managerial positions. However, the overall gap between female and male compensation is due to the relatively lower proportion of female employees in managerial positions compared to male employees in these positions.

Gender Pay Gap (Female Earnings as a Percentage of Male Earnings)

All employee types	71.2%
Regular employees	83.1%
Part-time and fixed-term workers	56.7%

Toray Group supports the voluntary initiatives of women in the workplace to create venues for communication about ways to resolve the issues and difficulties that they may face when trying to balance work and family life.

The outcomes of these communication events give the Group a glimpse into the current conditions facing women at work and their own opinions. Toray Group believes that resolving these issues one at a time will foster greater participation by women at work, and will steadily continue its efforts.

Holding Career Advancement Seminars for Women Serving as Managers and Occupational Specialists, and Discussion Meetings

In fiscal 2014, women serving as general managers at Toray Group developed and initiated a career advancement seminar for women serving as managers and occupational specialists, and it has now been held six times as of fiscal 2020.

These seminars were developed and launched with the hope that they would help women learn about diverse career paths and leadership and the importance of forming personal networks and learning from one another, particularly now. Participants in past seminars have been encouraged by this chance to hear about the wide range of conditions in which women in management and occupational specialties work and to interact with diverse role models. Each of the seminars is attended by the president of Toray Industries and the Senior Vice President of the Human Resources Division who engage in dialogue with the participants.

In fiscal 2016, the second seminar was held in January, and subsequently the seminar participants organized discussion meetings for women at all of Toray Industries' offices and plants in Japan to more broadly ascertain the views of women in non-management positions and younger workers at all plants. (In 2017, an additional discussion meeting was also held at the newly established Nasu Plant.)

The meetings offer an opportunity for women in workplaces of various ages and at various stages of life to talk honestly about balancing work and home life, sharing and educating each other about the challenges and issues they face. Men are also included in the conversations at some of these discussion meetings.

In fiscal 2017, follow-up meetings were held in 16 locations (plants), and women employees held group discussions on several themes chosen in the discussion meetings for women. In session one (information sharing), 1,039 employees participated, including 426 men, and 439 women participated in session two (group discussion). At session two (group discussion), a theme that fit the situation at each plant was chosen for discussion from among the themes compiled at the discussion meetings. Talking about a theme of interest to the participants allowed the discussion to go deeper, and issues that should be addressed at plants were identified. There have been several cases in which, based on the views obtained in the follow-up meetings, these discussions have led to improvements in the workplace environment or to facilities that enhanced working conditions for both men and women. In some cases, the discussions sparked the start of regular lunch meetings. These discussion meetings, led by women, have been held at all Toray offices and plants since fiscal 2019.

In fiscal 2021, an online discussion meeting was held for female G-Course employees in Toray Group. The facilitators were female managers and occupational specialists who are able to serve as role models. It was a valuable opportunity for many G-Course employees to share their work motivations, concerns, and issues, and to hear the opinions and stories of the facilitators and their peers from various generations and workplaces. Through past conferences, participants have identified issues such as the fact that female G-Course employees, who represent the future of the Company, are often burdened with anxiety about future career development.

In fiscal 2022, in order to respond to issues such as these, training was held not only for female managers and occupational specialists, but also for male managers and occupational specialists who have female subordinates. Through this training, male and female managers and specialists shared their viewpoints, deepened their understanding of the current situation, and decided to make their own action declarations aimed at resolving the issues concerned.

Participants followed up on the progress on the statements of intent they each made at the second seminar.

Fiscal 2017

Follow-up discussion meetings

- Dates From December through March 2017 (22 meetings at 16 sites)
- Purpose Held as a follow-up to the discussion meetings for women. Since the seminar, the participants continue to engage in group work. The aim is to further ascertain the current situation and dig deeper into the root causes, and to make recommendations for overcoming the challenges.

Fiscal 2020

Sixth career advancement seminar for women serving as managers and occupational specialists

Dates September 3– 4, 2020 (held online)

Purpose With regard to the three issues defined in the fifth seminar (the promotion to managerial/specialist positions, retention of young employees, and the realization of long-term career development), the participants divided into 11 groups to report and discuss the activities undertaken, the results achieved, and recommendations for future action.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the seminar was held as a virtual meeting in fiscal 2020, rather than in-person as it has been in the past.

Fiscal 2021

Online Discussion Meeting for Female G-Course Employees

Dates	November and December 2021 (participants divided into groups for a total of 62 sessions)
Purpose	The discussion meeting was divided into two parts. Part one consisted of the viewing of three videos: the president's message, an explanation of the purpose of the discussion meeting, and a lecture by an outside speaker. Part two provided the opportunity for participants to share their opinions with each other online. In this second part, female managers and occupational specialists (section managers) served as facilitators to create an atmosphere where participants could speak candidly without concern. The facilitators prompted discussion of and carefully listened to individual cases of female G-Course employees, their actual situations, and thoughts on work-life balance and sources of motivation. By helping to create networks among participants, including their role-model female managers and occupational specialists, workplace environments can be developed that enable female employees to pursue careers over longer terms. This includes being able to increase their motivation, access more information and reduce their anxiety about future career development, as well as finding appropriate support for career continuation while balancing childcare or family care responsibilities.

Online Training for Male and Female Section Managers with G-Course Female Subordinates

Dates	July and August 2022 (participants divided into 39 groups for discussion)
Purpose	Based on a prior questionnaire survey of G-Course female employees, participants engaged in discussions and shared opinions on the topic of “workplaces where diverse human resources can thrive.” The aim was to foster workplaces and a corporate culture in which staff can play a more active role by helping managers gain insight in their day-to-day management activities, and at the same time, identify the direction for appropriate measures, including support for balancing family and work responsibilities.

Sharing Stories via the Women's Empowerment Intranet

The Company gives specific examples on its corporate intranet of how employees who have given birth to and raised children, or provided caregiving for other family members, did so while still working. This intranet site was set up in January 2016, and since March 2019 it has been accessible via smartphone or tablet.

In order to provide helpful advice to young employees for enriching both their professional and personal lives, experienced employees have been posting on this website under the title of “Does This Help? My Story.” As of the end of fiscal 2022, 36 employees have shared their work-life balance experiences in this way.

By publishing not only examples of work-life balance achievement amid major life events, but also personal experiences relating to overseas posting and other career stages, the intranet site is helping employees of every age and gender to make their professional and personal lives more fulfilling.

Examples of Workplace Initiatives in fiscal 2022

Course for S-Course Female Employees and Their Superiors to Promote Greater Workplace Empowerment for Women at the Ehime Plant (Toray Industries, Inc.)

In February 2023, the Ehime Plant of Toray Industries held a training session for female S-Course employees and their section manager superiors (55 participants).

Under the slogan of “Mindset Enhancement: Stepping Up to the Next Level,” the participants reviewed relevant issues to help both superiors and subordinates to work more successfully, and learned how to better communicate with people that have different standpoints using the group work approach.

Women's Networking at the Tokai Plant (Toray Industries, Inc.)

The Tokai Plant of Toray Industries held a networking event for female employees in December 2022. Because the factory has few female employees and they are scattered among different workplaces, the women have not had sufficient opportunities for open interaction with each other. The event was planned by the Women's Empowerment Promotion Team in response to requests for more opportunities for female employees to network.

With total of 22 women in attendance, they shared examples of initiatives to promote women's empowerment and also spent time networking.

Toray Group hires and employs persons with disabilities, from those with physical challenges to persons with intellectual and mental challenges. The Group is making workplace improvements to remove physical barriers for persons with handicaps as well as instituting safety measures. Additionally, the Group provides comprehensive training upon work placement and gathers feedback from persons with disabilities to make workplace improvements.

Further, in fiscal 2022, Toray Industries met Japan’s legally mandated employment rate of persons with disabilities, as did 53.1% of Toray Group companies in Japan. Group companies actively seek to hire persons with disabilities through public organizations and job placement agencies. However, some individual group companies do not meet the mandated legal requirement. Toray Industries and group companies will continue to work together to actively focus on this issue moving forward.

Online Discussion Meeting Held Concerning Support for Balancing Work and Family Lives

Toray Group has set up a section on its employee welfare site called WELBOX to provide information on various work-life balance support programs. WELBOX also shares examples of work-life balance achieved by Toray Group employees. The WELBOX Online Salone has been held since fiscal 2021 as an online discussion meeting for those interested in the cases featured on the site. As of the end of fiscal 2022, there have been four such meetings. Reflecting on the themes of “balancing work and childcare” and “examples of career struggles,” the participants share their daily struggles, and use it as an opportunity for communication that goes beyond the usual workplace boundaries. Going forward, the plan is to continue holding this meeting about twice a year.

Employee Health

Toray Industries sees employee health management as a management priority, and is taking strategic initiatives in this area. The group-wide Safety, Health, and Environment Committee reports on the results of health management initiatives, determines action plans, and promotes them in each workplace. Working in collaboration with the employee health insurance association, the Company actively promotes employee health by sharing health information via internal communication tools, holding participatory events using health information sites, and providing lifestyle disease prevention seminars.

Toray Industries is also addressing mental health, and since fiscal 2011 has been implementing employee stress check-ups through an external provider. This helps employees recognize their own stress levels and learn how to manage stress, which leads to an improved workplace environment. The stress check-ups are also carried out at group companies in Japan.

In recognition of these efforts, in March 2023, Toray Industries was again listed as a White 500 Company in the Certified Health and Productivity Management Organization Recognition Program.

Some participants indicated an interest in the results of others in the same age group. So the participants analyzed their results, including comparisons with the previous year's results, and will utilize them as a reference for their activities. Going forward, Mishima Plant will continue to engage in activities to maintain and improve employee health through a variety of activities.

Dialogue with Labor Unions

Toray Industries holds meetings of the Central Labor and Management Council twice a year with the attendance of directors at the senior vice president level and higher and labor representatives at the union head level and higher. In addition to briefing the union on management information about Toray Group, the meetings facilitate ongoing dialogue with the union. In fiscal 2022, the number of meeting participants was limited in order to reduce the risk of COVID-19 infection.

Resolution of labor issues is undertaken at separate Labor and Management Council meetings.

Based on the union shop system, all regular employees, excluding those at the management level or accepted as exempted from labor-management consultations, are members of the Toray Workers' Union. As of March 2023, Toray Workers' Union membership stood at 7,858 workers.
